

Expert Witness Services

McLellan can provide highly experienced specialists for the role of expert witness in legal and arbitration proceedings to help resolve disputes within industrial settings.

As part of our expert witness services, we offer litigation support and forensic engineering investigation services to solicitors, loss adjusters, insurers, re-insurers and industrial operators.

We understand the importance of providing an independent and impartial opinion in carrying out expert witness services.

Our specialists have experience in preparing expert reports, advising strategy and giving evidence on behalf of leading international and domestic solicitors.
